Nation's Three-Day Storm Toll Reaches at Least 25 Killed

By The Associated Press

At least 25 persons were dead today in the wake of tornadoes and violent storms which struck the nation in many areas during the past three days.

Red Cross and other relief agencies moved into Fairmont, N. C., setting up temporary shelters for more than 50 families left homeless by a tornado which killed one and injured at least three others yesterday.

The twister cut a swath of about 31 miles between Dillon and Fairmont in eastern North Carolina while farmers were engaged in spring tobacco planting.

Heavy windstorms also struck areas of Arkansas, Missouri, Texas and Iowa yesterday and Tuesday. At least 13 persons were killed and 45 injured in Missouri and Iowa Tuesday by tornadoes.

During a tornado near Rockwall, Tex., two persons were killed and another critically injured last night in a highway crash. The tornado was the latest of four which swept northeast Texas during a two-day period.

In Arkansas, nine were dead and an estimated 25 injured after a storm Tuesday.

G.O.P. JUBILANT ABOUT LABOR

Hail Defeat of Split-Up Proposal as Harbinger of Victory.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—Elated over a preliminary victory, Republican leaders said today that "toughening" amendments to the senate union-strike curbing bill are as good as approved.

But they shied away from a commitment on whether the senate could override a possible veto by President Truman. Opponents of the bill, mainly Democrats, predict a veto and claim it will be upheld for lack of a two-thirds vote.

Senator Wherry (Neb), the Republican whip, told reporters yesterday's smashing defeat of an effort to send the bill back to committee to be split into four measures "assured" final passage of the omnibus legislation, plus pending G O P.-sponsored amendments.

The motion to recommit the bill, offered by Senator Morse (R-Ore), was defeated on roll call vote, 59 to 35.

"Strong Indication of Vote"

"I think that's a strong indication of how the senate will vote on the amendments and final passage," Wherry said.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee and of the labor committee, agreed. He said further he thinks that five or six Democrats who voted for Morse's motion will switch over to support the bill.

"But I don't know whether we will have as many Republicans with us as we did in opposition to the Morse proposal," Taft commented.

On the vote yesterday, 48 Republicans and 11 southern Democrats voted against the four-bill motion. Favoring it were 33 Demo-

NEW RENT HIKE TRY SET FOR HOUSE VOTE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—A fresh attempt to jack up rent ceilings by a flat 10 per cent was set for a decisive vote in the house today.

The politically explosive issue was brought to a showdown after the house voted 127 to 48 yesterday to kill virtually all government controls over building materials and construction under the veterans housing act.

Rep. Buffett (R-Neb), announced his plan to offer the general rent boost provision as an amendment to a section of the bill continuing federal rent controls for six months beyond their June 30 expiration date.

"The odds are better than even that the amendment will pass," the Nebraskan told reporters.

But Rep. Gamble (R-NY), a ranking member of the banking committee which first approved, then rejected such a proviso, disputed Buffett's prediction.

Across the capitol, meanwhile, where the senate banking committee also has turned down any across-the-board increase in ceilings, Democratic Senators Wagner (NY), and Taylor (Idaho), issued a joint statement saying there is "grave danger" that no workable extension will be enacted before the present control law expires.

DEMOCRACIES NEED FORCE, ALEMAN SAYS

Mexican Chief Tells Congress Weakness Whets Dictators' Appetites.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—President Miguel Aleman of Mexico told a joint session of congress today that "democracy, if not backed by force whets the appetite of dictators."

He said "the most powerful force to uphold democracy lies not in tanks and ordnance, but in the conviction of the men who, when conflict finally breaks out, will drive the tanks and fire the cannon."

Speaking in his native Spanish the mustached young visiting president added that civilization wanes "when the state curtails individual freedom * * * to impose its will or that of a political party" on its citizens.

Civilization Marches On

"Civilization is the onward march to the full liberation of man," Aleman said the process of "making man fully conscious of his own rights entitling him to demand the same respect for them that he renders the rights of others * * *."

He declared that any nation "under a tyrant's rule is not to be trusted. Nor can other countries live in security beside it."

Aleman said the mission of the United States in the troubled peacetime world is "to insure for the democracies a future of justice and freedom."

The recent war, he continued, taught the republics of the western hemisphere that "isolation is not a good formula for living. It is not good tactics for security."

Praises Good Neighbor Policy

Aleman called the U. S. Good Neighbor policy "the truest expression of the will for peace in this (western) hemisphere."

He said that "nearly 300,000,000 people" living side by side in the hemisphere "are concerned not only with assistance to ward off foreign aggression, but also with common efforts to overcome the dangers of poverty and despair in the difficult years of the peace."

The true significance of good neighborliness, Aleman said, is cooperation springing from "the democratic tenets that bind us together."

He concluded,

"We live in a region of the earth that we call the new world."

"Destiny Challenges Us"

"Destiny challenges us to make it new indeed by virtue of its generosity under democracy, the breadth of its concept of mankind and its undeviating respect for the standards of law."

English translation of the Mexican president's speech were distributed to congressmen and diplomats attending the session before Aleman began speaking. Aleman was the first Latin

Soviet Army Told To Keep Prepared

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 1—Russia's minister of the armed forces, Nikolai Bulganin, called on the Soviet army, navy and air force today to maintain their fighting preparedness" in an order of the day issued as millions celebrated May day—Europe's labor day.

Many nations, which have veered to the left since the war, joined with the Russians in observing the day, holding mass rallies and parades in capitals and other cities to coincide with a show of Soviet military strength through Moscow's Red square.

It was a legal holiday for the first time in Belgium and Norway. Workers in France also got the day off and in Russia a three-day holiday was proclaimed as Moscow set off the biggest May day celebration there since the war.

Fire Artillery Salvo

The Russian order of the day directed that the international holiday of the working people be observed by the firing of a salute of 20 artillery salvoes in Moscow and a score of other cities.

It said that Russia's foreign policy and efforts toward a lasting, democratic peace" are meeting with the approval and support of the progressive forces of the entire world."

"All our people, guided by the Communist party, by the great leader and teacher Comrade Stalin, are steadfastly overcoming post-war difficulties and achieving victory after victory on the front of peaceful labor," the order continued.

"The duty of our armed forces lies in ensuring the security of the peaceful labor of our people and the state interests of the Soviet Union. In order to perform this task successfully, the armed forces must at all times maintain their fighting preparedness."

Succeeds Stalin

Bulganin succeeded Stalin as minister of the armed forces two months ago. Stalin signed the May day order of the day last year.

In Britain, the national council of labor, representing the Labor party, the trades union congress and the cooperative union, called on workers everywhere to battle "the forces of reaction, aiming at imperialist domination and capitalist exploitation of the working people."

London postponed its May day celebration until Sunday when Prime Minister Attlee will speak at a public rally.

Demonstrations were banned in Greece. Stores were closed in Rome. Labor and Communist parties sponsored parades in the north of Holland, but there was no observance in predominately Catholic southern provinces.

In Berlin, the Russians made a special distribution of vegetables and fruit as part of the May day observance.

3 C. & O. EMPLOYES RECEIVE AWARDS

Marion, Carey Men Recognized for Suggestions.

Suggestions placed in the "employes' suggestion box" brought cash awards to three men in Marion and Carey today when they were accepted by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co. The men are Fay E. Snyder of 384 Monroe street, Ray Bishop of Windsor street and L. S. Dowler of Carey. The cash awards, together with a personal letter from R. J. Bowman, president of the railroad, were presented to the men today by H. H. Snouffer, assistant trainmaster here.

Mr. Snyder is employed in the maintenance department. His suggestion of a different type of grease gun for use in greasing engines met with the approval of the company as did Mr. Bishop's suggestion that brakemen be required to notify the operator at Bellefontaine avenue if the train is to be stopped at that point to take water. By doing this Mr. Bishop pointed out in his suggestion, he could notify the operator at the union station who could in turn clear he way for east or westbound trains, thereby eliminating many crossing holdups in the city.

Mr. Dowler's suggestion was the placing of a telephone at the coaling station at Carey as a time

Ohio Super-Highway Program At Legislative Half-Way Mark

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 1—An Ohio program for constructing privately-financed super-highways like the famous Pennsylvania turnpike reached the half-way mark in the general assembly today.

The senate approved the proposal by Sen. Ralph W. Winter (R-Medina) by a vote of 26 to 8 and sent it to the house.

Winter's measure would create a five-member Ohio turnpike commission appointed by the governor to build and operate superhighways to be paid for out of tolls collected from users. Routes would be picked by the governor and the highway department.

Bonds issued to finance the program would be sold to private institutions, municipalities and the like but would not be an obligation of the state. When bonds were retired, turnpikes would become toll-free portions of the state highway system.

Built In 2½ Years

A preliminary survey, Winter said, indicated feasability of a 240-mile turnpike across northern Ohio which could be built in about 2½ years at an approximate cost of $160,000,000.

The four-lane divided highway would skirt towns and would not disturb present roads, railways and other major installations, he added.

It would be designed to link up with the Pennsylvania super-highway which now terminates near Pittsburgh.

Those voting against the measure included Sens. Frank E. Whittemore (R-Summit), Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) and C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens).

Prior to the super-highway proposal vote, the senate passed a bill to permit manufacture and sale of colored oleomargarine.

Call for Markings

Amendments included in the measure would prohibit sale in Ohio of colored margarine made from oils imported from foreign countries and could require restaurants and eating places to mark servings of oleo with a large "O."

Voting against the measure were senators:

Pickets Told To Hold Lines

Phone Leader Tries To Break Up Back To Work Move.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—Telephone strike leaders called on pickets to hold their lines today as government conciliators predicted an "important development" at negotiations going on in the capital.

The National Federation of Telephone Workers, directing the 25-day-old walkout, sent officials to New York in an effort to head off a back to work movement and persuade members of four independent unions not to accept a tentative settlement.

Peter J. Manno, a government conciliator, said a break might come at a 4 p. m. conference here between officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph long lines division and the American Union of Telephone Workers.

Yesterday Disappointment

The development failed to materialize as expected yesterday, but Manno told reporters it was only postponed and "you can expect it at 4 p. m., today, although something might happen before that time."

He replied "no comment" when asked about reports the government planned to propose a wage hike of $4 to $6 weekly as the basis for getting wage talks started in the long lines division. The NFTW is demanding $6.

Henry Mayer, attorney for nine striking unions, told reporters the "development" expected yesterday was to have been "a substantial money offer from the company."

Company Denies Report

However, long lines officials declined to comment on this report and John J. Moran, head of the union involved, said he had not heard of it.

LOOSE STEEL RODS RIP UP FLYER, FREIGHT

Passenger Car on Track Near Gondolas Cut Open; Engine Derailed.

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 1—Rods of steel plates protruding from a moving freight train early today ripped a hole in the side of the Pennsylvania railroad's flyer, the American and wrecked another freight, killing four persons and injuring 40 others.

The freak crash occurred five miles west of here at 1:47 a. m. as two 16-foot long sheets of steel, laden lengthwise aboard an open gondola of a westbound freight, lifted suddenly so that their ends stuck out over adjoining tracks on either side.

Into one of these obstructions plunged the New York to St. Louis sleeper-coach passenger train, also westbound on the parallel tracks. Ends of the inch-thick steel bit into the fourth passenger car, tearing a tremendous hole in its side. The engine, mail car and another coach also were damaged.

Freight Repeats Accident

Moments later another freight moving east smashed into the steel protruding from the other side, sending the engine and tender crashing from the tracks and temporarily tying up all four main tracks of the PRR.

Dead and injured in the third fatal collision on the PRR middle Pennsylvania division in three months all were riding the passenger. Casualties were rushed to Huntingdon hospital and to the Altoona hospital 30 miles to the east. Many of the casualties were soldiers.

Two soldiers were the first identified among the victims. They were Joseph Selnick Jr., 18, Pleasant Gap, Pa., and Sgt. Robert E. Deavers of Tilnway, O. The two unidentified were a man and a woman.

The freight on which the steel was loaded was traveling west. There were 65 cars making up this freight.

The collision took place at Boyer ridge, four miles west of Huntingdon as the PRR line wound through the rolling hills of central Pennsylvania along the picturesque Juniata river.

Previous Wreck Recalled

Twenty-two persons died in the wreck of the PRR's Red Arrow as it neared the famous "Horseshoe Curve" some 35 miles from Huntingdon last Feb. 18.

Ten days later at the same site of the Red Arrow wreck, a pullman porter was killed and 11 passengers injured as the last car of the PRR's Sunshine Special tore loose from the train at the peak of the Alleghenies.

All three wrecks were in the pre-dawn hours.

Nurse Named As Heroine of Rail "Flyer" Wreck

By The Associated Press

ALTOONA, Pa., May 1—Two motion picture executives aboard the Pennsylvania railroad flyer, the American, wrecked near Huntingdon today, named a registered nurse as the "heroine" of the crash.

John R. McCrory of New York City, connected with Knowledge Builders Films, and Julian Bryan, also of New York, with International Film Foundation, said they were passengers on a sleeping car to the rear of the coach which was telescoped.

They told a reporter upon arrival here all lights were knocked out in the crash and that trainmen rushed through asking for medical aid. An unidentified doctor and nurse Myrtes Carlo of Bronx, N. Y., hurried to aid the dying and injured.

No Medicines Aboard

Miss Carlo said there was "no plasma, no sulfa drugs and no morphine aboard the train. We had to work only with bandages until a doctor arrived with morphine a half-hour after the wreck. The railroad aid car came from Altoona an hour and a half later."

Miss Carlo said that because of the lack of lights, she and the doctor were forced to work by lantern flares. She said most of the injured suffered shock and had bad cuts.

"If there had been plasma," she said, "we might have been able to save some of the dead."

McCrory reported the freight train carrying sheet steel on two gondolas had stopped on a west-

EIGHT KILLED IN MINE BLAST

3 of 11 Terre Haute Workers Survive Explosion in Indiana.

By The Associated Press

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 1—Eight of 11 men working in the Spring Hill coal mine near here were killed by an explosion yesterday.

Bodies of the dead, all brought to the surface during the night, were identified as Calvin Wilson, about 70, pit foreman, Steve Summers, about 55, Mont Gates, about 55 all of West Terre Haute, John Brown, 55, Ivern Earhart, about 50, Barney Riggs, 67, Desire Lete, 58, all of Terre Haute and Chauncey Blackburn, about 50, of Liggett, Ind.

Dr. C. L. Puckett, mine physician, said none of the bodies showed signs of burns but that Earhart's head was crushed.

Walking Toward Shaft

Rescue squads said the bodies, found about 15 feet apart, indicated the men were walking toward the shaft when the explosion occurred.

Work of bringing the bodies out of the mine had been delayed, rescuers said, by a smoke pocket which spread over the blast area. They said it was necessary to carry each body through circuitous, low, narrow passages more than a half mile to the mine shaft.

Three men who escaped unhurt from the shaft said they were knocked to the mine floor by a dynamite blast which the miners 1,000 feet back in the tunnel were setting off just 12 minutes before quitting time yesterday.

No Fire Evidence

Wesley Harris, a veteran mine superintendent and mining instructor at Indiana State Teachers college here, said there apparently was no fire, and mining authorities surmised that the dynamite blast had touched off a dust explosion.

Lt. Cmdr. C. E. Poe, federal administrator of mines for Indiana, said the mine has not been operating for production since the closing order issued by the government following the March 25 disaster in a Centralia, Ill., mine.

The navy administrator said a

Meeting of Workers Set for Next Wednesday.

The annual Marion county school census will be taken this month, County Superintendent D. T. Mills announced today. A meeting will be held next Wednesday night at his office for census takers, one for each of the 14 county school districts.

Special attention will be given this year to cataloging handicapped children and to informing their parents of the opportunities offered them by state schools.

Children afflicted with blindness, deafness, orthopedic or cardiac ailments, paralysis or mental illness are eligible for special instruction.

A house-to-house canvass will be made in taking the census. Last year about 2,700 children were registered in the county.

A new registration card has been prepared which will list children by family, including preschool children.

MUSIC CLUB GROUP HOME FROM DETROIT

Marion Women Active in Biennial Convention.

Members of the Marion Lecture-Music club have returned from Detroit where they attended the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music clubs which closed Sunday. Outstanding musical programs featuring artists and a series of luncheons made up the convention program.

Mrs. Kenneth Edgar sang with the Detroit choir on the opening program, Sunday, April 20, and at the Monday banquet an Ohio composition, "Ohio," composed by Mrs. Harry R. Mouser, was presented. Mrs. Mouser wrote the song were represented by 12 of music clubs in Ohio with orchestra accompaniment. Members of the Marion club, Mrs. Kenneth Woods, Mrs. David W. Mouser and Mrs. Mouser and Mrs. O. [illegible], attended the life members' dinner and at this time Mrs. LeRoy Schneider was made a life member of the club. Mrs. Mouser, who is chairman of music in hospitals, gave a talk on "Music as Recreation," at the Saturday session. The publicity director, Helen Havener of New York City, in making her report, gave recognition to publicity on "National Music Week" published in The Marion Star. The publicity was a page advertisement dealing with the national observance last year, which was the work of Mrs. LeRoy Schneider.

Attending from Marion were Mrs. Woods, circulation manager of the Ohio Music Club News, Mrs. Mouser, chairman of music in hospitals, Mrs. Evans, state insignia chairman, Mrs. A. G. Birch, Mrs. H. J. Mautz, Mrs. John F. Lacey, Mrs. O. D. Anderson, Mrs. Harry T. Williams, Mrs. Schneider and Miss Edgar. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Williams represented the local club as delegates.

YOUR HEALTH

Epidemic in Nurseries

Where hospitals are overcrowded and under-staffed, as they have been during recent years, it is not surprising that there may be an occasional breakdown in proper techniques. Such breakdowns, however, can have tragic effects.

This is well demonstrated by the epidemic diarrhea which sometimes has swept through nurseries for the new-born, and which has caused so many deaths among babies of war brides traveling to America in overcrowded ships.

Thus, the regulation of hospitals to prevent this disorder is one of the great protective services rendered by well-run public health departments.

According to studies made under our direction in the city of Chicago, as well as the statement of Dr. Martin J. Glynn of Cornell university Medical College, there is some evidence that perhaps those who take care of babies in these nurseries may be responsible for carrying the disease from one infant to another. Others think that it may be spread from milk or some other food which the baby may receive. This infection may be a serious one but much of its danger may be warded off by proper treatment. Dr. Glynn has outlined a treatment which he has found successful.

In order to control the diarrhea the baby is not given any food by mouth until he has not passed a stool for at least 12 hours. This starvation treatment is usually for from 24 to 36 hours.

Once the diarrhea has been checked the baby is offered small amounts of water at frequent intervals. The amount of water is gradually increased. Then the water is replaced by milk. Breast milk is, of course, best. If it is not available, a skimmed acid milk may be employed. As the baby continues to recover, milk with a higher fat content may then be given and finally some sugar may be added to the milk feeding.

Of course, during the period of starvation and after, the baby must receive fluids. These may be given by injection into a vein or under the skin depending on the preparation employed. Sodium lactate and salt solutions as well as glucose solutions are employed. Injections of whole blood into a vein or the fluid part of the blood are also useful. There are a number of preparations of amino acids which are also of value. Amino acids are the substances from which proteins are made and, of course, proteins are needed for the building of body tissue.

Some physicians have had success in treating epidemic diarrhea with the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin. Each case requires individual attention. Of course, when an outbreak occurs in a nursery, it is important that the sick babies be separated from those which are well. In some instances it may be necessary to close the nursery in order to check the epidemic.

Term Insurance For WW I Vets Extended

Recent enactement of legislation providing the privilege of renewing expiring five-year level premium term U. S. Government Life Insurance for a fifth five-year period will interest more than 58,000 World War I veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. These veterans currently hold approximately $329,000,000 of USGLI.

Under the new amendment, World War I veterans may renew their USGLI for another five-year period at the premium rate for their attained age without medical examination.

VA Pays 210,759 In 3 States for Disability

The number of World War II veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky who were receiving compensation for service-connected disabilities totalled 210,759 as of April 1. The total included 101,079 in Ohio.

World War II veterans with service-connected disabilities are entitled to benefits ranging from $13.80 monthly for 10 per cent disability to $138 monthly for total disability. For certain specific disabilities the rate may be as high as $360 monthly.

• • •

Blind Vets Eligible For Seeing-Eye Dogs

Trained "seeing-eye" dogs are available at government expense to blind veterans who are entitled to compensation for service-connected disability.

In addition to the guide dogs, VA will provide eligible blind veterans with necessary travel expenses between their residence and places where adjustment to the "seeing-eye" dogs is available, as well as meals and lodging during the period of adjustment.

Certain mechanical and electronic equipment considered as aids in overcoming the handicap of blindness also may be obtained through VA. Eligible blind veterans may make application for a guide dog or other aids at their nearest VA office.

• • •

Physicians May Make Collect Calls to VA

"Collect telephone calls to the nearest Veterans Administration regional office, sub-regional office or hospital may be made by physicians to obtain authority for the emergency treatment of veterans suffering from service-connected disabilities.

VA is authorized to pay medical expenses incurred only in the treatment of service-connected disabilities. Physicians must have prior VA approval to treat veterans, unless an emergency condition exists.

If it develops the emergency condition arose from a service-connected disability, VA will assume expense of medical attention. However, VA is not responsible for expenses incurred in treatment of non-service connected cases, even though emergency in nature. VA encourages physicians to make "collect" calls for authorization to render emergency treatment for disabilities which are known or presumed to be service-connected.

Subsistence Payable To Part-Time Student Vets

World War II veterans engaged in full-time employment and attending school on a part-time basis may be eligible for subsistence allowances.

Veterans in full-time employment who are entitled to part-time subsistence must receive from their regular employment less than $175 monthly, if without dependents, or less than $200 monthly, with dependents.

At the same time, they must attend a school of collegiate level for at least two semester hours a week, or any other VA accredited school for at least six clock hours a week. Veterans who believe they qualify for this grant may investigate their subsistence entitlements at their nearest VA office.

Questions and Answers

Q. Are there any charges for guaranteeing or insuring a GI loan?

A. No commission, brokerage and similar charges may be legally made against the veteran for securing a guaranteed or insured loan. Of course, customary out-of-pocket fees usually borne by the borrower, such as appraisal, title examination fees and other costs and expenses incident thereto, may be charged against the veteran by the lender, the same as against all borrowers.

Q. Does VA make loans or find a lender for me?

A. VA does not make loans, nor does it find a lender for the veteran. VA is not permitted to make loans. Within the limitations established by law, it guarantees or insures the repayment of a part of the loans made by lenders to veterans. In addition, VA pays the lender as credit on the loan four per cent of the guaranteed portion of the loan. The veteran is not required to repay this amount.

Q. I am a World War II veteran and recently developed an ailment which in no way is connected wit my military service. Am I entitled to treatment in a VA hospital?

A. World War II veterans with non-service-connected disabilities may be entitled to VA hospitalization provided a bed is available and if they are unable to defray the costs of private hospitalization.

Crops Delayed By High Water

Flooded Streams Block Planting of Oats; Farmers Turn to Soybeans.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, May 1—Unfavorable weather conditions presents a serious problem for Wyandot county farmers. According to reports rivers in this vicinity, small streams and creeks were out of banks and flooding the lowlands for the past few days. Farmers have also experienced difficulty in buying sufficient fertilizer for their 1947 crops.

According to Wyandot county Agriculture Agent S. C. Cashman, many farmers have given up the idea of sowing oats. Others are cutting down the acreage considerably. In most cases this acreage which has been planned for oats, will be planted to soybeans.

Wyandot county farmers planted about 40,000 cares to soybeans in 1946. If this acreage is maintained in 1947, they will require approxirately 70,000 bushels of seed beans. More than 25 per cent of the crop will be planted in rows, making cultivation easier.

According to Mr. Cashman, transit labor for this county will be mostly for sugar beet growers. The Great Lakes Sugar Company located at Findlay, has contracted approximately 600 acres for the sugar beets in this county. Beet growers will soon be receiving their payment under the sugar act of 1937 through the county AAA offices. This amounts to $2.70 per ton and when added to payments by the sugar company will bring the returns per ton to $16, the highest price ever paid for sugar beets. Most sugar growers in Wyandot county are located in Crawford, Richland and Crane townships. Antrim township has greatly increased its sugar beet production in the past few years. The transit labor, Mr. Cashman said, are mostly Texas Mexicans, about 22 having arrived so far.

Tomato growers have contracted approximately 100 acres in this county to the Hines Company at Fremont. Richland, Crane rank first in production of tomatoes. The tomato growers will cooperate with the beet growers in using the transit labor. Tomato growers also draw on the high school labor. Most of the tomato crop here is trucked out through the loading station at Wharton.

Approximately 500 acres in 1946 was contracted by popcorn growers. It is expected that the amount contracted in 1947 will be less, according to Cashman.

According to Robert E. Sweigard, Wyandot county AAA chairman, this county has 232,000 tillable acres. Corn acreage this year will be 53,000 acres. Last year 98 per cent of corn planted was hybred seed, of which half was produced in Wyandot county, the balance imported.

Wheat is in excellent stand throughout the county, except where there is poor drainage.

Exhaustion

PREMIER STALIN'S wishful thought, relayed by Gen. Marshall, that exhaustion may force the Allied governments into a compromise with the Soviet Union brings the Kremlin's tactics into clear focus.

They explain Russian obstructionism, which is to oppose every suggestion for constructive action until the other Allies are too tired to continue the struggle. That, as the strategists of the Kremlin see it, would be a compromise.

The Stalin regime is revolutionary. Some of its members may be even worse—nihilists who believe in destruction for destruction's sake. The great international issue is whether the American people can be persuaded to compromise with a revolutionary government pledged to the destruction of their own society.

The issue is whether they can be talked into a give-and-take arrangement with a government which is all take and no give; whether they can be persuaded to meet a dictatorship halfway.

It is whether Americans are to agree with Henry Wallace, that their own country is all wrong, in order to believe that another country is all right.

It is whether the United States government is to make deals on a quid pro quo basis with governments which consistently have acted in bad faith.

It is whether Americans should place a lower value on preservation of their principle than they place on appeasement of a government whose only policy is to be unappeasable.

It is whether the sovereignty of the American people should be jeopardized for the sake of buying good will which is not forthcoming.

It is whether the United States should be a sucker for the kind of political blackmail which presents revolution as the penalty for every failure of its economic system.

It is whether free men can be fooled into believing that something called communism, which is really revolution, is an alternative to Christian republicanism.

The issue, fortunately, is being settled. Gen. Marshall has helped, by bringing it into the open. James F. Byrnes, his predecessor, helped by terminating the appeasement of Russia practiced during the war. Premier Stalin's hope of compromise by exhaustion has less to sustain it than it had before the significance of Russian obstructionism was understood.

The United States sees the danger. It is unlikely to lend itself to any further design of exhaustion without calculating the risk. There is always the possibility that Russia will exhaust itself first.

Gaily Deck the Maypole

TODAY IS May Day, a holiday of all classes in medieval and Tudor England as well as in most other countries of the Old World. May Day was the occasion, for a happy festival, Woman donned their brightest dresses, on which they had been working all winter. Branches of blossoming trees were borne from the woods into the towns and villages and decked upon Maypoles, which were permanent fixtures in many English communities. (London has one 134 feet high).

Since 1889 when the International Socialist Congress claimed May Day for its own, its character has changed vastly. Where once there was dancing and feats of strength on the green, there now are "mass meetings" and "demonstrations." The Maypole dance has given way to processions of marchers bearing angry placards and mouthing bombastic slogans which have been handed out on mimeographed sheets. In olden times, May Day was the occasion for draining of butts of sack and carousing. Now Marxist orators stage an ideological binge on headier brew imported duty-free from Moscow.

What's Gained?

DECISION of the Ohio pardon and parole commission to continue George Mason's application for parole until 1949 raises a question about the commission's logic.

If its purpose is to salvage as much as possible from the social wreckage washed up in the state's penal institutions, Mason's application for parole should have been granted now. If its purpose is to inflict punishment on a quid pro quo basis, its conclusion that Mason is still a criminal can be justified. The fact is that in making his escape in 1935 while serving a sentence for possession of burglary tools and explosive Mason did slug a guard. But the further fact is that he led an exemplary life thereafter and had been recommended for parole by the governor of Michigan, who yielded him to Ohio authorities obviously in the belief his case would be handled with clemency.

There have been several occasions recently to wonder what the Ohio pardon and parole commission expects to gain by observing the letter of the law, at the expense of its spirit.

Spanish padres in 17th Century New Mexico kept delicacies such as tobacco and chocolate under lock and key in the churches. Such items were distributed to Pueblo Indians in small quantities.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Optimism Over Russia Not Felt Officially.

WASHINGTON, May 1—The morning-after stories on the General Marshall radio speech pictured hope and prospect of compromise with Russia which no official around here really feels. They all said Stalin indicated a willingness to compromise eventually or hinted Russia was coming around. What Stalin actually said was that differences such as ours are often resolved by the exhaustion of the negotiators and these might be, but of far greater significance in the Marshall speech was the state secretary's assertion he could not wait that long and his indication that he had a plan for action earlier.

The Russian diplomatic strategy is plainly visible behind the Stalin remarks. The Red leadership is stalling for time. By delaying any stabilization of peace and blocking treaties, the kremlin encourages growth of suffering in central Europe and perpetuates surroundings in which Communism thrives. It is deliberately blocking the German and Austrian peace treaties for that purpose.

No doubt the Generalissimo considers himself quite successful in his strategy because discussions now are to be delayed for months—five months until the next UN meeting and six months until the next Big Four meeting. Stalin's proffered prospect of a compromise was therefore certainly abstract and long range when measured against the facts what Russia succeeded in doing.

Two genuine suggestions that Russia might be coming around have been offered lately, both outside the conference. After ignoring four notes, the kremlin finally agreed to negotiate a conclusion of her $11 billion lend-lease debt to us, and to come back to the Korean conference out of which she walked some months ago. Marshall is supposed to have told Molotov he could not seek any loans and credits here while persistently ignoring even a discussion of such a debt. Marshall also secured resumption of the Korean discussions by some means which has not yet been reported to me. Yet in both cases he secured only promises of more talks, while Russia presists in boycotting such international stabilization steps as the current trade conference in Geneva.

Those who hope for compromise thus are reveling in Russian bagatelles.

Marshall did practically all the talking in his interview with Stalin, the top congressmen have heard. He had deliberately avoided asking an interview until presented with a late invitation, believing this would have a good psychological effect on the kremlin. But the congressmen did not hear anything important about the Moscow meeting or the interview which was not made public.

Marshall's suggested plan is already developing. Greek-Turk aid has been made ready for instant implementation by inside preparations in anticipation of congressional passage of the legislation (the bill was wanted by March 31.) The same policy can be developed around the world to meet and offset the Russian imperialism, the Communist dreams of world empire.

Occupation Policy

For Germany and Austria particularly, a permanent occupation policy can be worked out which will make the best of their bad economic situation. Steps to encourage agriculture and industry can be effected to a considerable further degree without Russia, and without anticipating that Russia ever will join wholeheartedly. Marshall can anticipate that the treaties will be accepted by UN, or even Russia, if she ever wants to join in, and proceed along that chartered line. No doubt the British and French would cooperate. Therefore Russian approval is not indispensable.

The American delegation to Moscow reports it was treated royally, was furnished good food and enjoyed the climate better than expected. Some dispensed with long underwear there.

As for the Marshall speech, the apprehensive congress regarded it as a welcome relief. Being the straightforward statement of a plain military man, it gave accurate news of the situation and properly evaluated what that news was, without emotional deceptions. That is something new in international negotiation.

A Pilgrim Returns and Reports No Progress

Secretary of State Marshall has returned from Moscow and reported the progress, if one may use the world loosely, of the latest Big Four conference.

He could have saved his breath. The details were already almost as well known as those of l'affaire Durocher.

The Russians having eliminated their censorship and admitted a number of American correspondents for the conference's duration, this was probably the best-covered fiasco in history.

Marshall went to Moscow not expecting much but, even so, he was disappointed. The moral is never to under-estimate a Russian's capacity for unreasonableness.

Yes sir, the foreign ministers met in disagreement and adjourned in status quo.

Marshall could do a book about his Moscow mission, titled "Flight Into Frustration," or "Six Weeks At Loggerheads."

It would have a big sale in a world which is coming increasingly to ponder the question: Can peace be born out of deadlock?

Attlee's Hindsight

By RAYMOND MOLEY

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE has at least been goaded by Winston Churchill to a state of emotionalism which may lead to greater troubles for the Labor government. In replying to the Tory leader's attacks, Attlee has blamed many of Britain's troubles on the restoration of the gold standard in 1925. Churchill, who was then chancellor of the exchequer in a newly-elected Tory government, announced and defended the decision.

But Attlee now fails to admit that the decision to return to the gold was not a matter for Churchill alone or even for the cabinet to make. It was the result of powerful economic forces.

The fact was that England in 1925 was operating without a gold standard on a pound which had depreciated in terms of the American dollar. The American dollar was never on a sounder basis. It was solidly established on gold. It was enjoying growing respect in world trade. Our finances under Coolidge and Mellon were getting better and better. The budget was balanced, taxes were declining, and we were paying off the war debt. The United States was producing goods with greater and greater efficiency. England's international trade position was declining, because traders preferred a sound dollar to a depreciated pound.

Unfavorable Conditions

England's foreign trade was reduced by many factors. The purchasing power of Germany and the Balkans were then, as now, in a low state. South America and India were slowly learning to manufacture goods formerly bought from England.

Moreover, England in 1925 had a large amount of foreign funds in custody which might move out if her finances got any worse. Such a body of foreign funds has always been a profitable source of internal financial operations. Hence, all of England's financial leaders and institutions and most of her foreign traders favored the return to gold.

Some industrialists who were interested in lower costs and higher prices were opposed. So were some labor leaders, although the official Labor party took no position.

In any event, the decision was made, and the pound went up about 15 per cent. Not much change took place in the relationship between prices and wages, against the action, John Maynard against the action. John Maynard Keynes, the managed-money advocate, attacked the government's action in his famous pamphlet, "The Economic Consequences of Mr. Churchess." The Keynes argument was that England could not stay on gold. The facts proved him to be right.

Forced Off Gold

England stuck to gold for over seven years. Meanwhile, the Labor party came back to power in 1929. Attlee's party did not go off gold. It resisted all efforts to that end and disregarded the Keynes argument. Then the Labor party went out, and a national government came in with a Labor chancellor, Philip Snowden. As late as early September, 1931, Snowden said that England would stay on gold. Two weeks later England was literally forced off gold.

Attlee's charge against Churchill is pure hindsight. His record and that of his party show no more foresight than that of Churchill.

Attlee says that his party's troubles last winter were caused by weather and other forces beyond control. The forces which moved Churchill in 1925 were almost as elemental.

Sleuth Catches Up With Himself

By The Associated Press

HAVERHILL, Mass.—Did you ever go looking for yourself? Well, Patrolman Melvin G. Batchelder did. A night watchman in a leather plant told him a suspicious man was trying to get into a nearby paint shop. Batchelder called headquarters. Three other officers quickly joined him. They found no one near the paint shop. Checking back on the time, Batchelder figured the "suspicious man" had been himself, trying doors.

Lend-Lease Peace Needed

By WALTER LIPPMANN

SECRETARY MARSHALL'S account of the arguments at Moscow ended with the statement that Europe "is sinking while the doctor's deliberate" and that therefore "action can not await compromise through exhaustion."

At this point John Foster Dulles, speaking the next evening, began to tell that part of the story which Secretary Marshall, for the best of reasons, omitted. The two speeches have to be read together, the Marshall speech for a sober objective account of the arguments in the conference, the Dulles speech for a broad indication of how American policy is shaping up.

American policy has, however, not yet taken shape. It is only shaping up. We must take, said Marshall, without delay "whatever action is possible" to meet the "pressing problems" of European "disintegration."

But since we are not yet clear about what action is possible, Secretary Marshall, who must take the action, abjured all the large generalizations and rhetorical promises which have so often in the past served as a counterfeit for a policy, a plan and a program of action.

The heart of the difficulty is that western Europe is a highly industrialized area which can not in itself become self-supporting and solvent.

Though we may be able, as Senator Vandenberg suggests, to agree on a political settlement with the western countries and have a "peace program which at least unites those who can agree," the economy of western Europe, including western Germany, can be kept going only as long as the Western Hemisphere is able and willing to meet the international deficit of all of western Europe.

No Permanent Step

This could be done for a while. But not forever.

It will have to be done until the Soviet Union assents to a general European settlement, which permits eastern Europe (not merely eastern Germany) to reunite with western Europe.

It will have to be done in order to induce, and in some measure to compel, the Sovet Union to agree to a general European settlement. But it is plain our delegation has come back from Moscow without any illusions as to how difficult, how costly and perhaps how dangerous, such a policy is bound to be.

In working out this policy of action that "can not await compromise through exhaustion," the spirit and purpose which animate the administration and congress are of paramount importance.

If it is undertaken in the spirit of an anti-Communist crusade, and for the purpose of uniting the democratic states against the totalitarian, the chances of success are negligible. The resistance generated not only in Moscow but all over Europe will defeat us.

If, one the other hand, we act in the spirit which Marshall and Dulles reflect, our action in western Europe can be designated to unite rather than to divide the whole of Europe. For we have the resources to stimulate such a revival of western Europe that the profit and advantage of collaborating with it will be manifest, and even compelling in Prague, Warsaw and Moscow.

We are already at the point where we must consider extraordinary measures of assistance to the United Kingdom, France, Italy, western Germany and many of the smaller western European countries.

If we are wise, we shall not wait until the collapse, which is clearly in sight within the next 18 months, is upon us.

In acting to forestall this collapse, we can afford to have no illusions. The deficit of the western European countries cannot be met, as Mr. McCloy's recent address makes clear, by the World Bank or by the American banking community. The sums needed are too large. The transactions are abnormal and altogether outside ordinary private finance.

Nor can the deficit be met by government loans because in fact these sums cannot be paid back. They will have to be contributed as a national investment in peace and prosperity.

That will mean the revival in some form or other of what was known in wartime as Lend-Lease. A different name for it may be invented. But that in fact is what it will have to be.

Now as we face up to the realities of the burden, our prime consideration must necessarily be not how to get the money back but how to make that money promote peace and prosperity.

It will not do that, I believe, if we allocate our contributions to each European government separately. That will merely put them all on the dole, whereas what is needed is a reorganization of the bankrupt economy of Europe, and then, to make the reorganization succeed, a large contribution from America of working capital.

So after we have discussed the separate needs of Britain, France, Italy and the rest, we should suggest to them that they meet together, agree on a general European program of production and exchange of imports and exports to the outer world, and that they arrive at an estimate of the consolidated deficit for as much of Europe as can agree to a common plan.

Such a consolidated deficit will be smaller than the sum of the separate national deficits.

Moreover, from our point of view it would be a refreshing innovation to make our contribution not to many separate governments but to Europe—if not to all of it at first, then at least to a very large part of it.

In some such way as this the contribution which we must inevitably make would serve not merely to relieve suffering but as a premium and inducement to the unification of Europe.

Treated in this way, our financial intervention in Europe would almost certainly be purged of the suggestion that we were treating Europe as a satellite continent in our contest with the Soviets, and even in Moscow our real intentions would surely become clearer.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Derby

This is Kentucky Derby Week. The Kentucky Derby is a horse race blown up out of all proportion to its importance by the injection of southern hospitality, crushed mint, ballyhoo and the fact that all northern, eastern and western sports writers are suckers for "My old Kentucky home."

• • •

It is run at a time when only a few horses are in shape but when all the customers HAVE TO BE.

• • •

Out of the many thousands of race horses in the United States only about a dozen ever go for the greatest glory in the turf world. This is the same as picking the World Series in May to determine the best ball clubs of June, July and August.

• • •

The Kentucky Derby is held where few can locate it and where it can be reached only by the bold and the brave. The trip calls for the hardihood of participants in a Byrd expedition, a weekend in a traffic jam and at least 48 hours in a major food crisis.

• • •

It is held under conditions which make it an ordeal, an adventure and a lost weekend. However it hangs the glamour no other horse race in America has ever been able to attain. It is all done by mirrors, banjo music, mint juleps and the fact that if you mix a legend with enough ballyhoo and sprinkle it liberally with Kentucky colonels and song of the southland you can't miss.

• • •

There are hundreds of races easier to get to, simpler to train for and conducive to far fewer headaches, but any horseman would rather win the Kentucky Derby than take any six of the others, with whipped cream.

• • •

When you think of the Kentucky Derby you don't think merely of a turf event, you think of Colonel Sellers, Old Black Joe, the Swanee River, all the mammy songs ever written, Matt Winn, Irvin Cobb, nights of quartette rendition of "Weep No More My Lady," magnolia, honeysuckle, white fences, Little Eva, Black Beauty, bourbon whisky, hoopskirts and bands playing "Dixie."

• • •

There are many other stakes paying bigger money and easier to win, reach and enjoy, but nobody has ever been able to dip 'em in the right glamour bath.

• • •

Speak of the Belmont, the Withers, the Futurity, the Suburban, the Widener, the Santa Anita handicap and what do you think of.... nostalgic melodies, music in the moonlight, colts scampering over the blue grass and men making courtly bows to eye-filling lassies? No chance! No matter how you slice those other turf features they still are hot afternoons at the race track, take 'em or leave 'em.

• • •

There is something about mint juleps made right that is worth a hundred standard testimonial agents.

• • •

On to the Derby! It will wear us down, beat us up, lower our resistance, flatten our arches and ruin our stomach. And we shall see more of the back of some of the reddest necks in America. But gangway! If a man wants to suffer, it's his own business.

"Cut prices," Harry Truman urged,
"Inflation you must watch" . .
And meat, eggs, bread and other goods
Zoomed up another notch!

No More Spying

By TRUMAN TWILL

A Yankee Doodle version of Mata Hari has written this department for help. "I am a spy," she confesses. "When I was very young, I saw a movie of Marlene Dietrich serving her country that way. She ended up blindfolded before a firing squad, and one young man went mad screaming, 'I won't shoot! I won't!' They led him quietly away and shot her. It was wonderful. Then there was Mata Hari, calm and beautiful, in a stony cell, the dark gallows outside, just touched with early morning sun. That decided me. For years I have been working up to an end as worthy and dramatic. And now what happens!

"Two men arrested for forging passports are cited for contempt of court. I ask you. Others caught selling information from the State Department are reprimanded. Congress hasn't decided yet whether or not they should lose their jobs too. Don't you see? It's not just for myself that I am pleading. What is to become of an ancient and honorable profession?

"Where's the romance? The danger? We don't even give our names any more. We just take an alias and the Justice Department can't do a thing. We're through! The other day, for old times' sake, I approached a beautiful young girl. I was wearing a long black dress and a film veil, like Hedy Lamarr in 'Secret Agent.' 'How,' I murmured, 'would you like to be a real spy? I can't promise you anything but danger and excitement, but you will know you are serving your country in the highest . . .'

"'What!' she cut in. 'Fake passports or sumpin? I could get in more trouble than a rocks!'

"You see what I mean. Will you help us?"

• • •

This appeal is moving. The truth is, Truman Twill is a frustrated secret operator with a secret place for other confidential agents with that frustrated feeling. Life is certainly not what it was cracked up to be. Instead of clean-cut spies dying nobly for their country, it is fat businessmen-types taking down columns of figures which show what is happening to non-ferrous metals. Ethan Allen would have given the country back to the Indians if he'd known what was coming.

There are no ladies in slinky getups, no suave men who know how to get out of tight places. There are just greasy, bald, frowsy characters willing to rat on their grandmas for five bucks a day. Instead of retribution—clean, swift and bitter—there are pot-bellied apes meticulously beating some poor sap over the head with a hose. This wasn't the way they said it would be, and nuts to it. Personally, we gave up spying as a promising career years ago and think every lady gumshoe had better do likewise before she gets caught for parking in front of a fireplug and is forced to suffer a fate far worse than death.

WATER CO. REVISES SUMMER BILLING

Customers To Get Special Rate for Sprinkling.

A change in billing procedure will give 4,500 domestic customers of the Marion Water Co. the benefit of the company's cheaper sprinkling rate during the months when it is most needed, L. Otis Porter, manager, announced today.

Those affected are residents of the area east of Oak street around to Delaware avenue, including the eastern portion of the city.

The rate will be in effect in this area from June to October instead of, as formerly, April to August. Since most sprinkling is done during the late summer months, the change will result in a saving for the customer. Mr. Porter said the company expects a reduction in revenue of about $3,000 a year under the new arrangement.

No change will be made in the time of billing customers west of Delaware avenue around to West Center street, including the southwest portion of the city. The sprinkling rate is effective in this area from May to September.

The sprinkling rate is ten cents a hundred cubic feet after the basic rate of consumption has been passed.

Letters notify customers of the change were mailed by the water company today.

Insurance Premiums On Ohio Autos Raised

COLUMBUS, O., May 1—Auto insurance premiums in Ohio followed the pattern of rising costs today.

Heavier repair expense for damaged cars and higher prices for the cars themselves are named by insurance men as chief factors for boosting collision insurance rates.

Some theft insurance rates also will be hiked. Youngstown's theft insurance premium jumped from $7 to $10 today.

Few auto owners were expected to escape the higher insurance costs, which sent premiums for $50 deductible insurance on a 1942 Plymouth from $26 a year to $37. New car rates have been increased only slightly.

DEADLOCK AT MOSCOW

Soviet Policy Aims at Control Of Reich Regardless of Cost

(This is the last of a series reviewing the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Moscow by AP experts in international reporting who covered the discussions.)

* * *

By WES GALLAGHER
(Associated Press Writer)

BERLIN, May 1—Soviet foreign policy at the Moscow foreign ministers conference aimed clearly at establishing a strong, centrally controlled Germany dominated by the Communist party, no matter what the cost.

This aim brought it into direct conflict with the western nations, principally the United States, and the resulting political battle in Germany in the six months is certain to shake and influence all of Europe.

The stakes for both sides are far greater and vastly more important to the world than those in Greece on which the spotlight of world affairs has concentrated recently.

It means a propaganda and political war from one end of divided Germany to another.

Lenin Statement Recalled

Molotov's iron stand against the western nations on issues which divided the conference had far greater clearness and significance when tied in with the traditional Communist aim expressed by Lenin in October 1918 when he said "the principle link in the chain of revolution is the German link and the success of the world revolution depends more on Germany than on any other country."

Some of the western delegations thought that Soviet policy might be to sacrifice certain political advantages in Germany to obtain reparations. The theory was that Russia's economic plight made reparations essential at all costs.

Such was not the case. Molotov neither offered any compromises nor gave up a single political position in treaty negotiations although usually he was outnumbered three to one.

Tied to his reparations demand was a far more reaching implication than just the delivery of ten billion dollars in goods. Included with it was a Soviet demand to a fourth share in control of the Ruhr, while opposing even any discussion of international control of industrial Silesia.

Would Have Given Power

Reparations and the Ruhr tied together would have given Soviet Russia power to tie German economy in knots if it was not run to their liking.

Such a program would give great political power in that the Soviet government could always dangle forward the hope that if Germany had a regime "favorable" to the Kremlin, remaining reparations claims could be reduced or forgotten.

Politically, the Soviet policy at Moscow seemed aimed at gaining as much control in the other zones of Germany as possible while relinquishing none of their own.

For example, in discussing what control the Allies should have over the central German agencies when they are established and over the advisory council. The western delegations voted that the Allied control councils would hand down only general directives under which the Germans would work out their own problems.

The Soviets insisted on and never gave up the provision that any zone commander could set aside any policy sent down by the central agencies.

Policy Uncompromising

On straight political issues Russian policy also was clear cut and uncompromising.

In Germany, as elsewhere, the Communist party uses many organizations as "fronts" for their aims, usually calling them "anti-fascist" this or that.

On the question of the composition of the German advisory committee which would function as sort of a legislature pending formation of a German government, the western powers held that it should be composed of representatives appointed by the various states plus representatives of "established" political parties.

Molotov insisted in long speeches apparently beamed more on Germany than on the ministers that a third group in the council should be made up of representation from "anti-fascist" organizations.

He refused to give up this comparatively minor point despite the jibes of Britain's Bevin who said "as an old Soicalist fighter" he knew how much organizations were used.

Bow To France

Still another point in the Soviet drive for control in Germany marked the discusison of central agencies. In deference to the French, Britain and the United States agreed that each central agency should be headed by an "executive" committee and decisions taken by a majority vote.

The French aim was to stop a "strong man" from seizing control. Under present political conditions the Communist controlled states in the Russian zone could not swing a majority of the committee.

The Soviets stood firm against this system in favor of one "state secretary" for each agency giving them a chance to have politically favorable candidates accepted in some cabinet position.

The Soviet stands on these political subjects and others in a similar line remained exactly the same throughout the six-weeks meeting, despite efforts of other delegations to shift about for compromises.

Each time the subject was brought up, the Soviet representative concerned, either Vishinsky or Molotov, made long tirades against the western powers, repeating over and over again charges which had been denied time and time again by those concerned.

Propaganda Sounding Board

Prominent members of both the British and United States delegations charged privately that the Soviets were using the meetings as a "sounding" board for their propaganda.

As the meeting drew to a close many members of the western delegations came to the conclusion that Soviet policy was more concerned with obtaining political control of Germany than of obtaining immediate reparations.

The remainder believed that Soviet policy was aimed at obtaining both.

All were convinced that the Soviets would launch an immediate and determined propaganda and political battle in Germany to gain as much support as possible before the next meeting.

The Russians in Germany long since have given up the initial postwar policy of presenting a united front to the Germans as far as the Allies are concerned.

Unleash Attacks on West

Russian controlled newspapers since the first of this year have unleased full scale attacks on the western powers on all political and economic problems. These are expected to continue with increasing violence.

During the conference the Communist dominated social unity applied to American and British authorities to operate in the western zones by amalgamating with the Communist party in these zones. This would make the social unity party a "national" German party and give it a powerful speaking platform.

On the other side of the fence the right wing liberal democratic party in the American zone has called for the establishment of a "central government" for the American and British zones. Thus far Anglo-American authorities have opposed any political merger of the zones.

On the conference and its subsequent developments the British licensed German newspaper Telegraph comments:

"Power politics as it is now being carried out before the eyes of the German public is poison for our own political development. It wakes the dangerous, fatal nationalistic instincts of the Germans."

4-Months Trip In River Houseboat Ends for Couple

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, May 1 — A four-month trip on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers was at an end yesterday for an amateur-built schooner-houseboat that will provide living quarters for Mr. and Mrs. Warren Christianson while he attends the University of Minnesota law school.

Christianson, a B-17 pilot during the war, and his wife started the boat while he was assigned to an air base near Columbus, O., after his active duty tour. They started the voyage last January from Columbus with a 60-horsepower engine pushing the craft along at about five miles an hour.

Eventually, the craft will be an ocean-going yacht, Christianson said.

"When I get my law degree in three years we will have the masts fitted out, sail down the river to the Gulf and then pick out some town on the Atlantic or Pacific coast where I can practice law," he said. "We'll continue living in the boat and take her on cruises when we like."

★Lt. James A. Clement. Killed in action May 1, 1944
Sorrow is something that must be borne alone.
No word of any human being can comfort fully—
No matter where our precious treasures find their resting place,
There forever will be that spot sacred to the cause of freedom in the world.
From our lives and arms he went away saying "Cheerio"
From the silence of the great beyond he says "Carry on."
He as thousands, lived, served, gave his all—
To us, his memory is another star in the firmament of human freedom—
And a star lighted by a multitude of angels of mercy that are servants of the Heavenly Father
Will watch above the place where he sleeps in the bay of Cagliari.

Hope Diamond's Owner Guards Heirs from Jewel's "Curse"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—Mrs Evalyn Walsh McLean made sure of keeping the famous Hope diamond and its traditional ill fortune away from her seven grandchildren for at least the next 20 years.

Under terms of the wealthy society matron's will the hard-luck jewel, along with the Star of the East and other gems in her fabulous collection, will be held in trust until 1967.

Friends of the family said today there is an "excellent possibility" the collection may be placed on display at the National Gallery of Arts or the Smithsonian institution.

MRS McLEAN

25 Year Period

When the fifth youngest of the grandchildren, Mamie Spears Reynolds, reaches the age of 25, all seven will be asked to agree on a property division plan for splitting up the gems. If they cannot agree on a property division plan for splitting up the gems, If they cannot agree, the jewels will be sold and the cash distributed equally among the seven.

Marue Spears Reynolds 4 daughter of former Senator Robert R. Reynolds and the late Evalyn Washington McLean whose 25th birthday will be in October, 1967. John R. 7, and Evalyn 4 (5 in June), children of John R. (Jock) McLean; and Emily, 7, Edward, 6, Ronald, 3, and Michael, 1, children of Edward B. (Ned) McLean.

Meanwhile the collection is to be "kept in same custody" by four trustees named in the will.

Executors Named

They are supreme court Justice Frank Murphy and the former government anti-trust lawyer Taurman Arnold, both of whom will serve also as executors of the will, and two Catholic clergymen, Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen and Rev. Edmund J. Walsh.

No value was given for the estate by the lawyers although close friends of Mrs McLean said her property was worth "well up in the millions."

Reynolds was given the use of Mrs McLean's palatial Washington home, "Friendship," for his lifetime. If it is sold before his death, he is to have a life income from the proceeds.

Mrs McLean's two sons are to have the use of her personal property except for the jewelry until time for its distribution among theirs and Reynolds children.

Mrs McLean died last Saturday of pneumonia.

LABOR VIEWS TOLD TO HOUSE

Unions Jam Ohio Legislature To Protest Curbing Proposals.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 1—The house industrial relations committee knew beyond doubt today where Ohio organized labor stood on legislation to outlaw the closed shop and otherwise checkrein labor.

AFL and CIO unionists from throughout the state jammed the house of representatives chamber last night and Committee Chairman Clifton L. Caryl (R-Union) estimated nearly 1,000 persons were in the chamber.

"If the policy of the Republican party in Ohio is to pass this kind of legislation," said Jacob Clayman of Columbus, state CIO counsel, "you will have the most reactionary legislature in the whole course of Ohio history."

Recommend Passage

William Lavelle, state CIO secretary-treasurer, Michael J. Lyden of Youngstown, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, and John J. Hurst, head of the Cincinnati Federation of Labor, the senate judiciary committee recommended passage of a bill to prohibit public employes from striking.

Meeting in the opposite wing of the statehouse, the committee reported out the measure by Sen. David McFerguson (R-Guernsey) without including provision for mediation of worker grievances which labor spokesmen had demanded.

The Ferguson proposal provides that a public worker shall be deemed to be on strike if he fails to report for duty "without the lawful approval of his superior" or causes absence by others.

On 5 Year Probation

Such a worker could be rehired at no higher than his same pay but could not receive a raise for three years and would be on probation for five years without tenure.

The mass meeting in the house chamber, meanwhile, heard Lavelle assert that there was "dynamite in this legislation." He referred to the series of proposals under consideration by the house committee which would:

Outlaw strikes except upon a majority vote of workers, drastically restrict picketing, prohibit pickets from hindering anyone desiring to work; require unions to make annual financial reports to the state and their members, and ban monetary political contributions by unions.

The house committee took no action on the measures.

MOVIE HEAD CALLS FOR EXPANDED TRADE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, said today America's policy of helping other nations halt Russian expansion will fail unless backed up by a boom in foreign trade.

Advocating a wider use of reciprocal trade agreements, the former head of the United States Chamber of Commerce said that unless international commerce is stimulated, "our entire foreign policy of financial aid could easily degenerate into an international dole."

"Enemies of our kind of capitalism both abroad and at home hope for a business recession, Johnston declared in a statement prepared for the house ways and means committee.

He said they "look eagerly ahead to the resultant chaos and confusion on which they think they can build a new kind of total state society over the grave of free, competitive capitalism."

American's trade poblem, he said, is the scarcity of the dollar abroad.

"Other countries can't buy from us if they are short on dollars and they can't get dollars unless we buy from them."

The motion picture industry "can't exist without a world market," Johnston told the committee. He said the industry's remittances from foreign countries last year approximated $125,000,000, or "almost exactly the total profit of the motion picture producing companies the same year."

"Then," McCrory continued, "the steel bounced back, slashed across two cars and cut through the fourth car like a knife.

McCrory said two soldiers—John Kavanaugh, Philadelphia, and Ralph T. Gardner, Wheeling, W. Va.,—and two unidentified sailors showed "heroism" in helping calm down the frightened occupants of the wrecked coach.

Enrique Rigo-Silva, Puerto Rico, a student at Ohio State university who was sitting in the second damaged coach, said the steel ripped into his coach "like a flash of light," bursting through the washroom and suddenly stopping.

Baby Whimpers, Coos As Railmen Seek Mother

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 1—A four-month-old girl, separated from her mother by today's Pennsylvania railroad train wreck, whimpered a bit and cooed a bit between naps at J. C. Blair Memorial hospital as officials sought to establish her identity.

"She's a cute little youngster but misses her mother," said a sympathetic nurse.

The babe was found in the aisle of the coach of the New York-St. Louis flyer ripped by a huge sheet of steel protruding from a freight car. A car-length hole gaped at window height in the passenger train coach.

The child wore only a diaper and a little silk shirt and was wrapped in a Pullman towel, apparently prepared for the night, hospital officials believed.

"I was sitting in a chair trying to go to sleep," said injured James M. Kaska, 18, of Latimer, O., a soldier stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J. "The next thing I heard was a ripping noise and something hit me on the side. The next thing I knew I was on my way to the hospital."

ARABS RENEW TILT TO FREE PALESTINE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 1—The Arab countries took their fight to the floor of the United Nations assembly today in an effort to overthrow a steering committee ruling against immediate consideration of Palestine independence.

The fight was taken to the 55-nation membership by white-haired Faris El Khoury, Syrian delegate, who had joined the representatives of four other Arab countries in their losing two-day battle before the steering committee.

The committee rejected the Arab demands late last night by a vote of 8 to 1.

El Khoury told the assembly that Syria could not acquiesce in the committee's ruling and urged that the member nations vote to include the Arab proposal on their work sheet for the present extraordinary Palestine session. A two-thirds majority was needed to approve the proposal.

The battle was renewed in the midst of these developments:

1. The political action committee for Palestine in a telegram to President Truman protested United States opposition to proposals asking the assembly's steering committee to act immediately for Jewish participation in debate here.

2. The political action committee also called on Poland, India, Czechoslovakia and Ecuador to withdraw in protest from the assembly unless Jews are given a voice.

Those four countries yesterday urged immediate action for admitting Jewish representatives to the floor.

lauze) and George G. Shurtz (R-Coshocton).

Also passed and sent to the house were bills to facilitate consolidations of school districts and eliminate 20 which now have no schools, and to place county welfare departments under control of county commissioners.

Introduced by Sens. John W. Morrison (R-Portage) and Allen N. Corlett (R-Cuyahoga) was a proposal for establishing grievance procedure for public employes but prohibiting them from striking. Arbitration of grievances has been advocated strongly by labor representatives.

Adopt Conference Report

Adopted by both senate and house was a conference report on legislation to extend the .65 per cent utility excise tax with permission to use surpluses, after poor relief needs, for other welfare purposes.

The house passed measures to bring operation and maintenance of airplanes by public agencies under supervision of the Ohio aviation board and to make it a felony to steal an airplane and a misdemeanor to steal plane parts or airport markings.

The house taxation committee drove ahead with its program to aid local governments by recommending two measures for passage.

They would distribute the state-collected intangibles tax on bank deposits and capital shares of financial institutions to local subdivisions and turn over to cities the state's right to levy against amusement admissions.

The senate judiciary committee recommended passage of a judges' pension bill which would permit jurists to retire after 12 years on 25 per cent of their annual income, and after 18 years on 50 per cent.

A senate conservation sub-committee recommended a watered down version of a strip mine control bill.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Auto Driving Suspension Ends

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 1—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt may drive an automobile again, three and a half months after revocation of her driver's license as the result of being involved in an accident.

Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary confirmed last night that the license had been reinstated by the bureau of motor vehicles. She said the former First Lady had no comment.

The license was revoked last Jan. 14 as the result of an accident Aug. 14 near Yonkers in which five persons were injured. Mrs. Roosevelt had to have two teeth replaced.

May Jury-Fix Rumor Brings Judge's Parley

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 1—Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut held an off-the-record conference yesterday with counsel in Andrew J. May's war fraud trial after a jury-fix rumor was brought to the court's official attention by defense attorneys.

Afterward, the justice's only comment to reporters was that the conference was "off-the-record." He went ahead with the case against May, wartime house military committee chairman, and three others.

8 INDICTED UNDER WHITE SLAVE ACT

By The Associated Press

WHEELING, W. Va., May 1—Eight persons were under indictment by a federal grand jury today on charges of violating the white slave act.

The grand jury, investigating Wheeling vice conditions, also returned yesterday an undisclosed number of indictments which were not made public pending apprehension of persons named in them.

Four of the persons indicted were arrested by federal bureau of investigation agents two weeks ago in Ohio.

Charged with transporting girls between various points in West Virginia and Ohio they were William Rogers, Cleveland; Harold J. Leich, Canton, O.; and Lucille May Burdine and Lucille G. McKinney, both of Wheeling.

Miss McKinney was named on three counts, the others on one each.

Named on similar charges were Pearlie H. Lamp, St. Mary's, W. Va., and William C. Satterfield, James H. Spicer and Raymond D. Spicer, all of Elkins, W. Va.

LABOR

crats and two Republicans—Morse and Senator Langer (ND).

Vote Seen Tomorrow

Both Wherry and Taft said they expect the senate to vote tomorrow on the first of the four amendments Taft wants written into the senate measure. This would prohibit unions from coercing workers in their selection of a union.

The G.O.P. leader agreed that a final vote on the bill will not come until next week.

Taft reiterated that he has no plans for a conference with Mr. Truman to find out what kind of labor legislation the Chief Executive would approve.

Such a conference, Taft declared, would be "impractical." He said there are so many provisions in the bill that it would be impossible to go into detail.

Tells What He'd Do

Then a reporter put it to the Ohio senator this way:

"If you were sitting in the White House, if you were president, would you commit yourself at such a conference?"

Taft replied: "No. I would say I would have to wait until I saw the whole bill before I made my decision."

The Ohio senator was undisturbed by a contention of Senator Holland that a veto of omnibus legislation would leave the nation without any means of coping with "national paralysis" strikes, such as a coal tie-up. A provision in the bill would permit the government to block these by injunction.

Taft said that assuming (1) the President does veto the bill and (2) there is a coal strike July 1 when the government turns the soft coal mines back to private operators, "we could still pass a separate emergency bill," at that time.

BLOW TORCH SETS OFF GALION BLAST

Ignites Fumes in Abandoned Gasoline Pipe.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 1—An explosion of a pipe protruding several inches from the ground and formerly used for a gasoline pump in front of a car garage on North Market street, about a block and a half north of the square, occurred shortly after 9 a. m. today. Some damage was caused but no one was injured.

Operators of the garage, Merwin Gwinner and H. A. Swalley, had hired a local man, Howard Wells, to cut off the pipe. He was using a blow torch when suddenly he saw the ground begin to rise. He ran from the scene, and the pipe exploded, raising the dirt from six to eight feet, damaging the sidewalk, and making a hole in the ground approximately 10 feet in diameter. A large piece of the rock struck a new automobile about 50 feet away and damaged the door. The car was owned by Ralph Heskett.

The pipe had not been used for 17 years and the garage operators did not know that there were gasoline fumes still in it.

No decisions were announced immediately by the three other unions. These New York and Pennsylvania unions are not affiliated with the NFTW.

Michigan Company Phone Cables Cut

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 1—The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported early today that a cable between two Michigan cities—Wayland and Moline—had been hacked, cutting off service on 300 circuits.

Long distance telephone service was most seriously affected by the cutting, the company spokesman said, but the cable owned jointly by Michigan Bell and the long lines division of the American Telegraph and Telephone Co., also carries some radio and telegraph circuits.

Associated Press service to newspapers in at least 20 Michigan cities was disrupted by the damage to the cable, described by the Michigan Bell spokesman as "sabotage." The line was broken at 3:30 a. m.

Dean at O.S.U. Says Colleges Raiding Staff

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 1—Colleges and universities are "bidding fiercely" for star members of each other's teaching staffs in a current shortage that has become most critical, says Dean Harlan H. Hatcher of the college of arts and sciences of Ohio State university.

"A university with a good but underpaid professor is in the position of a Sunday school boy walking through a tough neighborhood with a lollypop," he told the O.S.U. alumni at a meeting here last night.

Hardly a day passes without some member of the O.S.U. faculty receiving a good offer from another school, Dean Hatcher said. He declared that just last week four smaller colleges offered from $600 to $1,500 higher salaries to some of O.S.U.'s more promising younger instructors and buttered their offers with assistant or associate professorship rank.

CRUSADING PASTORS REKINDLE CAMPIGN

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 1—This city's crusading Protestant ministers rekindled their anti-vice campaign today with letters to the mayor and prosecutor in what they termed deficiencies in law enforcement.

Prosecutor James Borkowski was asked why the number of prosecutions in lottery cases had dwindled since the grand jury reported, and why hirelings instead of gamoling operators were named in indictments.

The ministers asserted future cases would be taken directly before common pleas court judges unless there is more vigorous prosecution. They did not elaborate on how they expected to accomplish such action.

The pastors said they were willing to back Mayor George Floto on recent cleanup demands, "if he is sincere." They declared they had information that prostitution still exists and that "numbers" are being openly sold and also that the underworld plans to reopen the city on a big scale.

The grand jury indicted six on charges of numbers writing in report last April 21.

Mayor Floto and Prosecutor Borowski had no immediate comment on the ministers' letters.

Mansfield Unions Plan Wednesday Work "Holiday"

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., May 1—Union officials are making plans for a three-hour work "holiday" of all AFL, CIO and International Association of Machinists members in Mansfield next Wednesday afternoon.

The action, recommended by a joint council of the three groups in Richland, Ashland and Crawford counties Tuesday night, is intended as a protest against so-called "anti-labor" laws proposed in the Ohio legislature and congress.

The stoppage, if 100 per cent effective, would take more than 13,000 workers off their jobs in this city.

Claiborne Grange Hears Rev. Brewster

RICHWOOD — Claiborne Grange met Monday night. Master Zane Randall was in charge. Mrs. Wilma Treese, chairman of home economics, announced the molasses cookie contest would be held May 28. Rev. Edward Brewster, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke on "Rural Life Sunday" to be observed June 1 at the Springdale church.

Readings were given by Doris Shoup and Betty Jo Webster. Mrs. Herbert Simmons played a piano solo. Essex Grange members will be guests at the Claiborne Grange May 12 and will be in charge of the program.

Ernie Pyle's Monument No Limestone Futility

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 1—Ernie Pyle would be right pleased to know what his foster mother — Indiana university — is doing with his memory.

She raised no monument to honor him in limestone futility. Instead she is keeping the memory of her lost - loved son alive by training other journalism students to the standards he wrote and lived by.

Hal Boyle

Money collected in his name is being used to give needy war veterans a chance to study and learn in the Hoosier atmosphere that produced Ernie, himself the masterpiece of Indiana simplicity.

When Pyle died, his homespun fame was so near to millions of Americans who saw the war through his portable typewriter that he was in danger of becoming a legend totally unlike the real man. A number of ambitious projects were projected in his memory which Ernie would have been the first to hoot down.

"Would Approve Memorial"

I think he would approve what his own university has done. Without undignified or emotional tubthumping it collected $52,000 to establish the Ernie Pile Memorial Fund. There were 7,000 contributors.

"Most of the money was raised by newspapers and newspapermen," said Lawrence Wheeler, executive director of the fund. That would have made Ernie really proud.

The principle will be kept intact. It is invested in government bonds. The interest is spent to create journalism scholarships here.

Students from any part of America are eligible. Students from half the 48 states have written for information.

Seven Scholarships Granted

Seven scholarships have so far been granted — all to war veterans. One combat flier had three children, one ex-soldier had been injured before getting a chance at overseas duty. One winner was a WAC who spent 15 months in England and France.

"All are moving right on into decent newspaper jobs," said Wheeler. "We will continue giving scholarships to veterans as long as there is a demand from boys and girls with service records.

"We feel Ernie's real memorial will be the active work of a good many men and women in the newspaper field who have held Pyle scholarships."

Ernie would find it hard to realize just what an inspiration his career has been to students here.

Battered Desk Does Duty

The battered old desk where he worked as editor of the student newspaper in 1922 is still in duty.

In the university memorial union a glass case contains the salt-rusted typewriter on which he pecked out his columns, his pipe (although I never saw him smoke anything at the war fronts except cigarets) and a droopy officers cap he liked to wear with the cocky slant of the airmen.

His portrait and the bust by Jo Davidson are there, too. Students and visitors come and stand many minutes to look at the symbols of this wry and sensitive man who took the public heart as did no other newspaperman.

Soon these and other mementoes will be put in a separate Ernie Pyle room for journalism students. His library of 600 volumes, described by an expert as "the next working newspaperman's library I ever saw," will be there.

It includes many standard classics picked up by Ernie at second-hand bookstores in his travels. Some still hold the empty envelopes he used as place markers. In one elderly copy of Boswell's "Life of Johnson," Ernie wrote under the faded signature of the original owner.

Gene Krupa's Band To Play at Palace

Gene Krupa, one of the world's greatest drummers and a leading dance maestro, is bringing his band to the Palace theater Tuesday, May 6, for afternoon and evening performances on the stage.

When it comes to beating the drums, Krupa is regarded as the fastest man in the business, and according to health authorities, he expends as much energy in working as do athletes in strenuous sports.

Krupa got his start in the dance band business when he joined Benny Goodman in 1934. Krupa remained with Goodman until he decided to strike out on his own and organize his own group some time later.

He made his debut in drumming at the age of 13. He played for only a few minutes, but it was enough of an opportunity for him to know that drumming was to be his life's work.

A health and exercise authority who measured Krupa's exertion during a jam session declared that two swing numbers in a row as Krupa plays them are more enervating than a mile run or four line plunges on the football field. Also according to reports, he drops as much as three pounds in a day's playing.

Known by such names as the King of Cymbals and Doctor of Tympani, Krupa is heard on the radio networks and has played such engagements as the Strand and Paramount theaters in New York, RKO theaters in Cleveland and Boston, the Palladium in Hollywood and the Meadowbrook at Cedar Grove, N. J.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

...nna onion, 2 red ...reen dressing, 4 cups shredded red cabbage, ½ cup cross-cut dill pickle slices.

Slice onion; separate into rings. Core apples; do not pare. Cut in thin slices. Combine onion rings, apple slices, cabbage and pickle slices. Just before serving, toss with French dressing. Serves six.

Apple Mousse

Two cups unsweetened applesauce, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon mace, few grains salt, 1 cup heavy cream.

Combine applesauce and sugar. Heat, stirring until sugar melts. Chill. Add lemon juice and mace. Whip cream and fold it in. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze until firm with cold control at lowest setting.

Honey Baked Apples

Six large, tart apples, 6 tablespoons honey, ¼ cup orange juice, sugar, few grains nutmeg.

Core apples. Pare a quarter of the way down. Combine honey and orange juice. Pour into centers of apples. Set in a baking dish. Pour a little cold water in bottom of pan. Bake in 400 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes, or until apples are tender. Sprinkle pared sections with a little sugar and nutmeg. Run under broiler to glaze.

Apple Quickies

1. Add a quarter cup of chopped peanuts to three-quarters of a cup of thick applesauce. Spread on thin bread slices and serve with milk for an after-school snack.

2. Pour a cup of thick sour cream over apples in apple pie before putting on the top crust.

3. Fold together equal amounts of chilled unsweetened applesauce and vanilla-flavored whipped cream. Dust with cinnamon. Serve for dessert.

4. Sprinkle the top of a baked apple pie with a cup of grated American cheese. Run under the broiler to melt the cheese. Serve hot.

LOCAL EXECUTIVE HONORED. A double recognition came to H. L. Wenner, secretary-treasurer of the Marion Nation Farm Loan association, in Louisville recently, while attending the thirtieth anniversary celebration of the Federal Land bank.

As secretary-treasurer of the Marion National Farm Loan association, Wenner a resident of Upper Sandusky, was presented with a new business achievement award for "being a volume leader by standing second in the four states of the Louisville district by closing $185,900 in loans and also exceeding your new business quota for 1946." In addition Wenner and the land bank president recorded a radio interview which will be heard over the Ohio Farm and Home Hour on WOSU, Friday, May 2. From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

We Got to the Fish Fry After All

That community fish fry was sure a great success. There were plenty of appetizing extras, and Will Dudley did a right wonderful job of frying the fish—soft and flaky inside—brown and crisp around the edges.

But we didn't get to go. The missus was tired after working in the yard, and we just didn't want to leave her.

Then how did we know the fish was so good? Because the folks didn't forget us. They sent Skippy Henderson over with two steaming covered plates of fish, and a pitcher of cool, sparkling beer. And we finished them off in front of our own fire.

From where I sit, that's one of the things that makes our town so nice a place to live in: a spirit of share and share alike. That plate of fish and glass of beer weren't just great eating, they were symbols of the thoughtfulness that makes for better living!

Softball Commission Approves 24-Team, 3-League Season Entry List

Minard Appointed To Draw Up League Schedules by May 12

Team entries in the city softball leagues were approved and a provision for two rounds of play in each league was made by the City softball commission at its final pre-season meeting at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

Bob Minard, commission secretary, was appointed to draw up a schedule for the summer. The softball season opens Monday, May 12.

There will be three eight-team leagues this summer. They will be the Sunday School league which will be active Tuesday, days, the Commercial league which wil lbe active Tuesdays, and the Industrial league which will play Thursdays.

Leagues and Teams

The teams in each league are as follows:

Church league: Trinity Baptist, Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren, First Evangelical United Brethren, St. Mary No. 1, St. Mary No. 2, Forest Lawn Presbyterian, Epworth Methodist, and First Presbyterian.

Commercial league: DeMolay, Co. M, Schlairet Transfer, Moose Lodge, Tong Implement, American Legion, McAllister Real Estate and Insurance Co., and Standard Oil.

Industrial league: McMillen Feeds, Osgood, Ohio Associated Telephone, Pollak Steel, General Excavator, Quaker Oats, Commercial Steel, and Ohio Public Service.

To Repair Fields

The commission also made plans for the repair of the backstops at the McKinley park field and the Garfield park field. Bleachers are to be constructed at each park. Three sets of bleachers for each park to handle crowds of from 125 to 150 persons are in the offing.

By the new two-round setup, after every loop team has played every other league team, standings will be computed and a top team will be decided. Then the league will get off to a fresh start.

The reason for this inovation is that no team will be hopelessly out of the running for the championship of a league until very near the end of the season and thus interest will be high all the way through.

Play-Offs Possible

Play-off games have to be held at the end of each round, in case of ties, and a play-off series between winners of first and second rounds is also called for. One game is all that will be necessary in a play-off at the end of a round but when round champs meet a team will have to win two of three games for a league championship.

Because the Standard Oil team in the Commercial league cannot meet the rules of that league to the letter, the commission made the stipulation that they will be allowed to play in the Commercial league under Industrial league rules.

Commercial league rules call for a roster of only 15 men on a squad at any one time and the players for Standard Oil will be working split shifts so the outfit would not be able to field a team at all times under this rule. Industrial league rules make the provision that a team roster may consist of as many players as the squad wishes to carry provided they are all employed by the plant which is sponsoring the team.

Umpire Clinic Held

The second session of the softball umpires clinic was held at the Y last night with Burt Curtis conducting.

Umpires who have been approved by the city softball commission are Wade Conkle of 336 Patten street, Robert Reid of 450 Oak street, Oliver Hallbill of 450 Fies avenue, F. R. Dulin of 396 Oak street, K. D. Whiteman, Uncapher avenue; Mel Lehner, South Main street; Robert Putman, South State street, and Ralph Kink of 275 Park boulevard.

DIAMOND DUST

Don Carlsen, Marion shortstop of 1944, may achieve his ambition.

Carlsen has announced he is gunning for a big league berth within the next two years and has converted himself into a pitcher to do it, according to the Sporting News.

Early this spring he was told by the Los Angeles Angels' manager that their was no room for him on that class AAA club as a shortstop. He tried inound duty and looked impressive in exhibition games against major league batters.

Then April 21 he got his first starting assignment and whipped Seattle 3 to 2 in a 15-inning contest. He allowed seven hits, struck out five and walked three Dayton is trying an aluminum warmup bat. Weighing seven and three-quarter pounds, the bat is believed to be better for the purpose than the familiar practice of awinging several bats.

* * *

Ned Garver, Newark pitcher in 1944, recently won a six-hit game for San Antonio of the Texas AA league, stopping Shreveport 2-1.

* * *

Cy Koppa, Newark catcher of 1944, has been sent by Milwaukee to Leavenworth and Steve Lembo, catcher for Zanesville in 1944, has been optioned by Mobile to Newport News

Night Softball League To Organize Tonight

An organization meeting of the Marion Night softball league will be held tonight at 8 at Smitty's grill.

The league is planned to include ten teams. Doubleheaders will be played Tuesday and Thursday nights at Smitty's Crystal Lake diamond.

At the end of the season a playoff will be held among the four top teams. The loop will be governed by a commission made up of representatives of each team.

Canadian Senators are nominated for life by summons of the Governor-General, while members of the House of Commons are elected directly by the people.

HAPPY CHANDLER
Pitching?

Chandler, MacPhail on Mound but Who's Pitching?

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 1—Chandler and MacPhail formed the battery for today's big verbal baseball battle—but there was some question as to which would do the pitching and which the catching.

The game's commissioner, A. B. (Happy) Chandler, and the carrot-thatched prexy of the Yanks, Larry MacPhail, were scheduled to argue their differences at 11 a. m.

MacPhail was ordered here by the commissioner to explain why he had defied a "silence" order by talking out of turn about the 1947 suspension Chandler handed Leo (The Lip) Durocher, Dodger manager, on April 9.

The Yanker boss not only appeared ready to back up his statements, but took occasion yesterday to call the New York scribes together for the purpose of "re-irritating" the remarks to which Chandler objected. After his new broadside, MacPhail took a plane for Cincinnati and his date.

The Yank chief maintained a heavy silence on his arrival here last night, however.

MacPhail, whose charges of defamation against Durocher and Branch Rickey, head of the Dodger club, led to the "Lip's" suspension and fines of $2,000 against the "Bums" and the Yanks, said he understood Chandler had written a letter to President Will Harridge of the American league stating that Durocher's suspension did not result from any evidence produced at the Florida hearings.

Chandler, shown a copy of MacPhail's remarks, just jutted out his jaw a bit and said "no comment."

HARDING NINE BOOKS ASHLAND TOMORROW

Guns for 4th Win in 5 Season Starts.

The Harding baseball team will play its fifth game of the spring at Harding field tomorrow afternoon against Ashland.

The teams met at Ashland earlier with the Presidents getting a 4 to 2 victory. The record of the locals is three wins and one loss.

This will be a rebound tilt for them as their last start was a 7 to 3 loss to Mansfield.

In all probability Ashland will start their mound ace Dave Messener, who, during his tenure in the last Ashland - Harding meet, whiffed eight locals.

Harding Coach W. N. Wilay will probably send Jack Owens or Ed Smeltzer on the mound for this tilt.

SCHLAIRET TO PRACTICE

Schlairet baseball team will hold a practice at McKinley park Sunday at 1:30 p. m. This will be the last practice before the team plays its first game of the season against the strong Shelmar Products team from Mt. Vernon.

Colley Disallows Lima Protest; OSL Still Jinxed by Showers

Spurns Settlemire's Beef Over Disputed Run; "Too Late."

Although rained out of two games with Lima, Marion's Cubs won a victory over that team today, The Associated Press reported. Ohio State League President Frank M. Colley disallowed the protest Lima registered over the opening game at Lima Sunday.

The Terriers protested an umpire's ruling which permitted a run to score when, with the bases full and one out, a runner was hit by a batted ball.

President Colley declared that the scoring of the protested run was illegal, but that the protest was not registered by Manager "Lefty" Settlemire of Lima until the end of the seventh inning, although the protested play took place in the first half of the seventh.

The rules provide, Colley said, that the protest must be filed "upon the happening of the event upon which the protest is based and before play is resumed."

Because the protest was based on valid grounds, Colley returned to Lima the $10 fee assessed against clubs filing a protest and returnable only when the protest is allowed.

Cubs To Try Again Tonight with Bryant's Dodgers in Field.

Rain continued to jinx the Ohio State baseball league yesterday.

Marion's already belated home opener was postponed again and all other loop contests were called off due to rain or wet grounds.

Local officials said they still intend to start Mayor H. L. Dowler on the mound for the first pitch with Safety Service Director E. O. Uncapher doing the catching.

Clay Bryant's 1947 edition of the Zanesville Dodgers will furnish the opposition for the locals home debut—weather permitting. The Dodgers will be here today and tomorrow. Saturday the Newark Browns invade Lincoln Park for a three-game series—one Saturday night and two Sunday.

BRYANT

Sunday's first game will be played at 2 p. m. and the second tilt at 8 p. m.

Pre-game ceremonies scheduled tonight at 8 p. m. include flag raising rites with a contingent of the local American Legion post participating.

"Wrestles Mystery Man Tonight"

Two swell bouts are on tap tonight at the Marion Armory. the two hour main event is a return match between the Mystery Man and Rufus Jones. If their rematch is anything like their first meeting the fans are in for one of the roughest matches ever seen here. Rufus is out to either beat the masked grappler or tear his mask off. The semi-final match is between Billy Rayburn, who is making his first Marion appearance in about four years and the clever Jap Duke Keomuka. These two should have about the fastest match seen here in many a moon.

A ten minute prelim between local youths will start things moving at 8:30. Its an all-star show and if you haven't your ringside seats call 2745 after six for the best.—Adv.

ANTI-FAVORITE CREW FINDS DERBY HOPES

Riskolator, Bullet Proof Gaining Betting Support.

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1—Kiskolator and Bullet Proof were the darlings today of the Beat-the-Derby-Favorite cheering society.

Phalanx and Faultless are the glamour-boys this time, with Star Reward and On Trust not far off. There was loud support for such as Jet Pilot, the booming front-runner, and Liberty Road, which is such a dark horse in Saturday's 73rd Run for the Roses they're calling him Coal-Mine Cat. But Riskolater and Bullet Proof are the young fellows voted most likely to draw the non-favorite dough when the field of 12 or 13 gets around to the paying teller's window Saturday.

Riskolater has had three chances at Plain Ben Jones' tall and rangy Faultless. The first time, in Florida, he was four lengths back; the second time, at Keeneland, two lengths; and a week ago in the Blue Grass stakes, he was a rip-snorting second by a neck. The way the E. T. D. F. society members have it figured out, he's getting closer all the time.

Bullet Proof, if he wins, would be the smallest derby winner in history, the older inhabitants of the hardboot country tell you. He has to take two big drinks of water to get up to 950 pounds on the scales. The only time a three-year-old beat Faultless this season was last February in an overnight race; and the three-year-old was Bullet Proof, owned and bred by Liz Whitney, the Virginia horsewoman.

Riskolater was bought as a yearling for $11,000 by Edward S. Moore, the son of a New Jersey judge, and a Kentucky and Florida sportsman himself.

10 YEARS AGO

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

King Carl Hubbell, the New York Giant meal ticket picked up in May, 1937, continues his phenomenal pitching and compiled 24 straight victories over a two-season span before he finally dropped one.

Hub won six games, one in relief, during the month before the Giants' arch enemies, the Brooklyn Dodgers, got to him on the last day of May and beat the Giants 10-3.

The two-season streak broke all existing records, topping Rube Marquard's 1911-1912 mark of 20 in a row. However, Rube's string of 19 in 1912 still stands as a one-season record. Hub won 16 in 1936 and eight in 1937 before the Dodgers stopped him. He lost a 1-0 game to the Cubs on July 13, 1936, before he began the streak.

Other memorable sport performances 10 years ago this month included:

War Admiral's victory in the Kentucky Derby. The favorite beat Pompoon by two lengths with Charley Kurtsinger up. Samuel D. Riddle's horse collected $52,050 for the victory and led throughout the entire race. A crowd of 62,575 attended. War Admiral also won the Preakness that month.

Mickey Cochrane, manager of Detroit, was beaned by Bump Hadley of the Yankees in the fifth inning of a May 25 game.

Stanford's 880-yard relay team set a new world record of 1:25, which still stands.

Southern California's Bill Sefton and Earl Meadows soared 14 feet, 11 inches in a track meet at Los Angeles, for a world pole vault mark, and stopped only because the standards would go no higher.

VANDER MEER TAKES HILL IN FIRST TRY

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, May 1—Johnny Vander Meer makes his first start of the season today hoping to salvage the finale of the Reds' three-game series with the Boston Braves.

The Braves swamped the boys from Cincinnati 10-3 yesterday. Johnny Sain struck out 10 Redlegs and gave up six hits including Grady Hatton's two-run homer in the opening round.

The Braves pounced on Ewell Blackwell, the flower of the Redleg pitching staff, for four markers in the second inning and then added three more in the fourth. Clayton Lambert, his successor, gave up two runs in the fifth.

Earl Torgesen, Boston's rookie first sacker, who pounded out a two-run triple in the second, homered off Lambert in the sixth to round out the Braves scoring.

Roseberry Wins Carolina Loop Opener

Joe Roseberry, Marion player and 21-game winner for Marion in the Ohio State league last season, drew the opening day assignment for Winston-Salem, pitching the club to a 10 to 2 victory over Martinsville, according to the Winston-Salem Journal.

Two other players on the Winston-Salem roster also played with Marion in past seasons. They are Leo Perini and Walt Lammers. Perini was with Marion last season and Lammers played in 1944.

In Excellent Form

Roseberry hurled in excellent form, appeared to weaken a little in the fourth and fifth innings, but quickly got his second wind and went down the stretch as if he had just opened his mound duties, the paper said.

He allowed eight scattered hits and fanned six batters. Both of Martinsville's runs came via the circuit clout.

A big gun of the Winston-Salem attack was Leo Perini. He knocked one ball out of the park and garnered two singles in other trips to the plate. In the second game of the season which resulted in a 9 to 1 victory over the same opponent Perini hit three for five, his longest blow being for two bases.

Lammers Wins Praise

Lammers, who is thirdbasing for the club, received praise in a column conducted by Carlton Byrd, sports editor of the Twin City Sentinel.

In his column he quoted Luke Stuart, part-time New York Yankee scout, as saying that Lammers should be ready for the majors in a couple of seasons. The scout said Lammers needs someone to remind him every day or so that he can make the grade to keep him hustling.

G. G. Nuetzel, Marion trainer last season, received a letter from Perini recently telling about the opening game. He said Ronnie Henderson, another former Marion player, has been optioned to a club in Idaho.

Winston-Salem, a member of the St. Louis Cardinal farm system, was the club through which Marion worked last season. After the local outfit notified St. Louis they were breaking ties they took the contracts of most of Marion's players.

Injured Arm Brings Bud Creasap Home From Baseball Wars

Owen (Bud) Creasap states that a throw from third base, intended for first, that hardly got past the pitcher, is the reason he is back in Marion, after working out with Leaksville of the class C Carolina league this spring.

It was in an exhibition game and he was playing third. He fielded a ground ball and threw toward first but a sudden sharp pain shooting through the arm made it impossible to follow through with the toss.

Prior to that he had noticed pain in the right arm but it had not been too severe.

Creasap played for Leaksville last season and says in training he felt he would be able to turn in one of his best seasons this year. He had been hitting well and was doing all right at a new slot with the club.

Last season he played first base but the manager of Leaksville transferred him to third because of a good throwing arm.

After his arm went bad he stayed around a while to see if it would get any better. When it failed to improve he asked for a release and returned home.

The reason for the sudden lameness of the arm is not known and an X-ray was made of it Tuesday, the results to be learned today or tomorrow.

Most of the pain is centered in the shoulder. Creasap hopes surgery will be able to fix things up again.

Last year he also had trouble with his arm but this was righted by an operation on the nerves of the arm.

If a successful operation is performed he will attempt to go back into organized ball later in the season.

Circus Goes On Despite Downpour of Rain

Despite lack of cooperation by the weatherman the Sparks circus carried out the "show must go on" tradition and entertained a crowd estimated at more than 1,000 for the matinee and night performances here Wednesday afternoon and night.

Because of the flooded grounds some of the acts could not be staged and rubber blankets placed in the center ring failed to be of much use to the performers. General admission customers were put in the reserved seat section and in an effort to help keep the patrons as dry as possible the management told them to walk on the seats leaving the tent. Some of the feature acts were not staged because of the condition of the grounds. Despite handicaps the circus gave two good performances.

The show went from here to Lima and later will go to Findlay and Toledo and then into Canada for an extensive tour.

Quick Nevada Divorce Ruled Illegal in Ohio

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 1 — Divorces obtained by legal residents of Ohio who take up residence in Nevada or other states solely for the purpose of securing such decrees were ruled illegal today by Common Pleas Court Judge Charles J. McNamee.

The jurist made the ruling in holding invalid the Reno divorce of Frank J. Smerda, operator of Smerda's music house here, who has since remarried.

"His statement that he had intended to remain in Nevada indefinitely does not square with his conduct," Judge McNamee said.

"At the time he went there he had no friends or business connections in Nevada. * * * He had lived here continuously for 36 years and was the owner of property of substantial value and the owner of a well established and prosperous business."

Honors were won by Ralph Young, Howard Ziegler and Mrs. Mark Stoffer. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Burkepile. A hamburger fry and potluck supper will be held at the May meeting in the community house, with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stoner in charge.

American Farm Bureau Head Plans To Quit

WASHINGTON, May 1 — Edward A. O'Neal plans to retire this year as president of the American Farm Bureau federation, according to Washington associates.

O'Neal declined to confirm or deny reports that he will step down after 17 years as head of the influential farm organization.

Allen Kline, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation and vice president of the national organization, is slated to succeed O'Neal, according to those forecasting the change, possibly not until the federation's next convention in January.

O'Neal, himself, described Kline as "a brilliant man" and predicted the Iowan likely will be chosen president if he vacates the office.

THE NATION TODAY

Two New Reports on Greece Give Dismal Picture of Nation

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON May 1 — This country, is planning to give aid to Greece to stop the spread of Communism, begins a new foreign policy

No one knows how many other countries we may have to help in the same way or whether all this will lead to war with Russia

James Marlow

So what we do in and for Greece may change the course of history. For that reason, what we do about Greece involves you.

But what do you know about the Greek problem except perhaps something vague like this

There's a lot of poverty there and the Greek government is having trouble with the Greek Communists"

Two studies on Greece — on what is happening there and why — have been made public this week

Special Porter Report

One is a report by a special economic commission, headed by Paul Porter, which this government sent to Greece to investigate

The other is a book — "The Greek Dilemma War and Aftermath" — written by William Hardy McNeil, and published by J B Lippincott

McNeil a major in the war, was in Greece as assistant military attache from November, 1944, to June, 1946

Porter's commission made its concentrated investigation of Greece from Jan 18 to March 22, 1947

The commission's report tells a pretty sad story of the Greek people at this time, politically and economically

In short, it says the Greek people, drenched in poverty and politics, feel hopeless about getting back on their feet by themselves

It says

The lack of confidence among government officials and the people in the ability of Greece to save itself financially and the belief that it must depend on aid from abroad has contributed to an appalling inertia.

Disparity in Living Standard

It says further

'There exists a wide disparity in the living standards and income throughout all Greece Profiteers that is traders, speculators and black marketeers thrive in wealth and luxury, a problem with which no government has effectively dealt At the same time the masses of people live on a bare subsistence'

The Porter commission's report runs about 60 pages a sorrowful picture of a people chopped to pieces by war

And in the end Porter's commission suggests the Greeks will have to have help from other countries for perhaps five years

But that report doesn't go much into the background or history of the present trouble there McNeil's book does in 281 pages

It's a good book to read if you want to learn the Greek story in some detail

It picks up Greek history about 1908 takes it through two world wars the German occupation the underground resistance the liberation the election return of the king, and the present civil war.

STOCKS WORK WALL STREET'S SUNNY SIDE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK May 1—Leading stocks continued to work the recovery side of the market street today with favorites advancing fractions to around 2 points

There was an active buying flurry around midday following a profit taking letdown in the first hour

Much of the revival again was credited to short covering and bidding by professionals on the idea that three successive declining months entitled the list to a substantial technical rebound Earnings and dividends were helpful

In the rising division most of the time were U S Steel, Bethlehem National Steel, Chrysler General Motors, Santa Fe, N Y Central, Great Northern Railway, Illinois Central Northern Pacific Goodyear Woolworth May Department Stores (on a sharp earnings jump), Du Pont Dow Chemical American Tobacco "B Liggett and Myers United Merchants Pepsi-Cola and International Paper

Three large bedrooms and a tile bath, living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room and a bookcase lined den. floors and woodwork are fine. Basement is large, deep and dry—two-stall garage, large trees and lots of shrubbery—sound good? It's true! $16,500.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

FAITH'S entrance into the sitting room, and her dash into her grandfather's open arms, had the effect of a breeze sweeping away, for a minute or two, the anxious planning of my father and of Philip Veritzen, for his wife, Olga.

"Oh, Granddaddy!" Faith repeated almost smothering him in her exuberant hugs. "My own granddaddy! What a wonderful surprise!"

Remembered Manners

Then she evidently remembered her manners, and wriggled down from his knees

"I must be a well-bred little girl, or my mother will want to know the reason why," she murmured, and the four men in the room were suddenly seized with violent coughing fits, while Olinn and I kept our faces straight with difficulty.

But Faith was unperturbed. She straightened her small figure with the air of a small duchess, and came across to me

"Good afternoon, Mummy," she said, as I bent to kiss her.

Then she went to her father.

"Good afternoon, Daddy," she said, receiving his kiss complacently, and then her eyes widened as they fell on Jack Bickett, whom she adore, and on Philip Veritzen, who also has a large, if lesser, place in her heart.

I knew that she was on the verge of more excited squeals, but, surprisingly, her decorum held, and with a murmured comment, evidently to herself, of "More surprises!" she went to Philip Veritzen, following my repeated injunction to greet older people first, and said "Good afternoon, Uncle Philip. This is a pleasant surprise."

Then he put on the act which always enchants her

He rose from his chair and, in defiance of continental custom, raised the hand of a "jeune fille" to his lips

"I am honored, Mademoiselle," he said, as he turned the tiny hand over and imprinted a warm kiss on the rosy palm

"Gee!" she whispered, overwhelmed

Then she spoke with ludicrous decorum

"I am the one who is honored, Uncle Philip," she said, and turned to Jack, who promptly caught her in his arms and hugged her tightly before she could speak

"You're supposed to do that to dames, not golls," he said to Phil, with pretended resentment, over Faiths' head. "You're just a chiseler."

"I know what that means," Faith piped, her decorous conduct relaxing in Jack's embrace "Jun and Rod taught me before they went away It means—"

"Never mind telling us now," her father said "They taught you a good many things beside your prayers But it isn't always necessary to repeat them"

Another Track

But Faith's brain already was traveling along another track.

"Where's Aunt Katharine?" she demanded, with disappointment in her voice. "Didn't she come with you?"

Jack looked at me over her shoulder, and I spoke quickly.

"Faith," I said, "I must tell you a secret Can you keep it"

She was out of Jack's arms before he knew it, standing erect on the floor, and making long sweeping gestures across her chest

"Cross my heart and hope to die!" she declaimed "What is it?"

"I have more surprises for you," I told her; "one of them sad."

Dicky's head jerked up in warning, and the next second I scored myself for my carelessness Faith's face crinkled into frightened misery, and the tears came into her eyes

"Oh! Oh! Is Granzie deaded?" she wailed "Or Junior, or Rod, or Cousin Mary?"

Nobody Dead

"No, no," I almost shouted "Nobody is dead Cousin Mary has come back home, and she's pretty sick, but she isn't going to die"

As Jack drew the child back into his arms, and nestled her head against his shoulder, I put up a fervent little petition that my assurance might indeed be the truth

"Listen to me, Darling," I said, rising, crossing to the chair in which Jack sat, holding her and seating myself in a chair opposite him, so that Philip, Dicky and my father, who had risen with me, could take their seats again

"You may not see Cousin Mary tonight, for she is asleep But you may see Aunt Katharine a little later She is in the bedroom next to this room now, taking care of Cousin Mary"

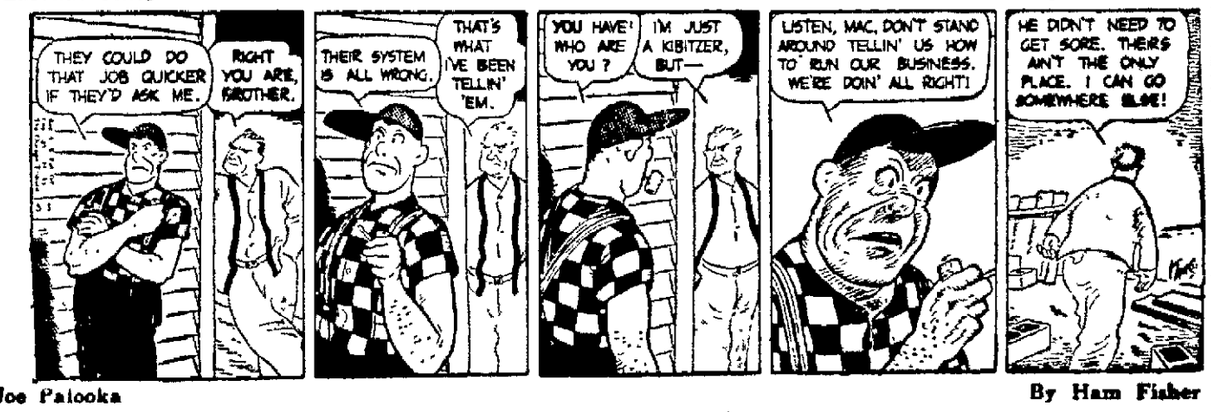
HOW TO TORTURE YOUR WIFE By H. T. Webster

I SEE THAT MAN. I SEE THE CAR COMING OUT OF THE SIDE STREET. I WON'T PASS THE CAR AHEAD UNTIL IT'S SAFE TO DO SO. I'M NOT GOING TOO FAST. I'M DOING 25, WHICH IS 5 UNDER THE LEGAL LIMIT. I SEE THE BOY ON THE BICYCLE. I SEE THE DOG CROSSING THE ROAD 2 BLOCKS AHEAD. WERE YOU ABOUT TO SAY SOMETHING, DEAR?

Gasoline Alley By Frank King



THEY COULD DO THAT JOB QUICKER IF THEY'D ASK ME.
RIGHT YOU ARE, BROTHER.
THEIR SYSTEM IS ALL WRONG.
THAT'S WHAT I'VE BEEN TELLIN' 'EM.
YOU HAVE! WHO ARE YOU?
I'M JUST A KIBITZER, BUT—
LISTEN, MAC, DON'T STAND AROUND TELLIN' US HOW TO RUN OUR BUSINESS. WE'RE DOIN' ALL RIGHT!
HE DIDN'T NEED TO GET SORE. THERE AIN'T THE ONLY PLACE. I CAN GO SOMEWHERE ELSE!

Joe Palooka By Ham Fisher

DEAR, YOU KNOW I DON'T KNOW YOUR NAME! IT SEEMS SILLY THAT WE NEVER ASKED IT
I THINK IT'S OHM
WHAT'S THE MATTER, CHILD WHAT HAPPENED? YOU SEEMED ILL ALL OF A SUDDEN
N-NOTHING, THANK YOU. I HOPE YOU'LL FORGIVE ME.. I CAN'T TELL YOU...
I DIDN'T ASK HER ANYMORE... SHE WANTS TO FORGET SOMETHING, I THINK... AND I FIGGERED SHE'LL TELL US WHEN SHE FEELS BETTER.
YOU WERE RIGHT, MOM. SHE SEEMS T'BE A FINE GIRL AN' SUFFRIN' FROM SOME SHOCK.. WE'LL LET 'ER KEEP 'ER SECRET, AN' TELL US O' 'ER OWN ACCORD.. IF SHE WANTS TO.

Terry and the Pirates By George Wunder

I'M SO SORRY YOU MUST LEAVE — YOU WON'T FORGET ME, WILL YOU?
LADY, YOU CAN COUNT ON ME TO TAKE QUITE AN INTEREST IN YOU FROM HERE ON IN.
HE'S GONE, BOC. YOU CAN COME OUT NOW.
YOU HANDLED THAT QUITE WELL, MY DEAR. THE GOOD COMMANDANT SEEMS TO BE A TYPICAL EXAMPLE OF WHAT THE YANKEES CALL, FOR SOME OBSCURE REASON A WOLF. YOU SHOULD HAVE NO DIFFICULTY INFLUENCING HIM.
MIGHT AS WELL MAKE YOURSELF COMFORTABLE, RYAN. YOU MIGHT HAVE A LONG WAIT BEFORE WHOEVER'S HIDING IN THAT FLAT COMES OUT WHERE YOU CAN GET A GANDER AT HIM.
